

The tablecloths I received are 2cm bigger or smaller than what I ordered, why and how do we fix this?

As all our tablecloths and napkins are custom made for you, using manual techniques, there can often be small discrepancies between the various sizes we offer.

Generally, a difference of around 2cm (or 1 inch) from the size you ordered (upwards or downwards) is expected to occur in a significant percentage of the items we make and does not constitute a fault. It is simply an acceptable variation in the size of tablecloth/napkin you may receive, bearing in mind it is all custom-made.
